

CITE is dedicated to providing Intelligent Transportation Systems (ITS) training and education in a manner that is convenient for both existing practitioners and college students through web-based distance learning.

University Partner ITS Course Offerings

Please list all the graduate and undergraduate ITS courses that are currently being offered through your university:

Please list any graduate or undergraduate ITS courses that you plan to offer in the near future:

Does your university offer any ITS training courses? If so, please list them:

Please return this form to Kathleen Frankle, CITE Program Manager (see contact information below).

Form completed by: Name: _____

University: _____

Phone: _____ E-mail: _____